BIG CROWD TELLS FINCH "GOODBYE"

UNION FAREWELL SERVICE PACKS CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

JESUS, THE CENTRAL FIGURE OF HISTORY

"And the Common People Heard Him Gladly" Was Pastor's Text—Music a Feature of the Service.

"Jammed and packed" are sometimes overworked as applied to crowds but the audience which gathered into the First Christian church last night in a union farewell service to the Rev. Robert L. Finch, pastor of the church, really did pack and crowd the church completely full.

People sat in windows, and chairs were in every place possible. The four pastors of the other Protestant churches sat upon the platform and took part in the service. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. R. C. Holliday, pastor of the Buchanan Street Methodist church.

The Rev. L. M. Hale, pastor of the Baptist church, led in the opening prayer, and the Rev. William Moll Case, pastor of the Presbyterian church, delivered the benediction. The Rev. G. S. Cox sang a solo before the sermon.

Mrs. F. P. Robinson sang "Arise, Shine for Thy Light is Come," by McDermid, and the choir sang as an anthem the "Gloria" from the mass by Farmer.

The closing music was one of the most beautiful selections of sacred music to which a Maryville audience has listened. Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Prof. H. B. Schuler and Mr. Cox sang "Praise Ye" from the opera, "Atila." The Rev. G. S. Cox, president of the Ministerial Alliance, and Prof. Harry A. Miller for the Y. M. C. A. of the State Normal School, read resolutions of regard for Mr. Finch and regret at his leaving.

Ministers "Regular Fellows." In his introductory remarks, the retiring pastor, who will become the minister of the Park and Prospect Christian church in Milwaukee next Sunday, said that he appreciated at the full the large attendance at the "obsequies." He said that the courtesy of his fellow ministers appealed to him particularly.

"As I turn around and look at them, however," he said, "I see but two of the old guard left who were here when I came. I know that they are regular fellows and in my short acquaintance with the other two, I have found that even if they are parsons, as one old lady once said, 'they are almost human.'"

"As I face these ministers, I can say that I pray that the victory may be to the faithful. And I will be frank to say that I would with all my heart that I might stay and fight with them. You may know, whatever you do, pastors and people, for Maryville, that my heart will be with you."

"Mrs. Finch said to me this afternoon that she wanted me to hit the saloons whatever else I said tonight. But I am not here tonight to hit anything or anybody. Yet I will say that nothing you can do will bring me more pleasure than to hear that you have driven these holes of vice and corruption from the city. On the other hand, nothing can hurt me more than to hear that you have failed in that regard."

Anti-Saloon Remarks Cheered. Mr. Finch's remarks against the saloons were greeted with handclapping. He said that he was sorry that the large number of receptions he and Mrs. Finch had been given this week had made it impossible for him to prepare for his sermon as he should have preferred. He desired to present to his hearers the great, central and outstanding figure of history, Jesus Christ.

His text was Mark 12:37: "And the common people heard Him gladly." The great middle class were the ones, the preacher said, who had accepted and followed Christ in every age. This is significant because in the long time, the common people are never wrong, as Abraham Lincoln said in another well-known way.

"The church today faces the plain fact that large masses of the people are out of sympathy with the church and the kind of Christ it presents. We have the great task of so presenting Jesus to the common people that they will hear Him gladly in this day."

"A man of genius is really a part of the common people, for all of them have risen from the common people and kept their spirit of brotherhood. But it is the 'somebodies' in every age, those people who set themselves up as being better than their fellows to whom the spirit of Christ makes no appeal. Thus men like Franklin, Carlyle, Napoleon and others expressed their admiration of Christ and their belief in His divinity."

Mr. Finch said that it was the ideal character of Jesus and His assurance to all people that what He was they might become which attracted them to Him. It was that which made a publican a mighty leader, and by which a few fishermen conquered an empire.

Christ brought what science could not give, the knowledge of a loving and tender God. Jesus made God real and close to the hearts of the common people, and therefore they heard Him gladly, said the speaker.

"The test of any man's theology is his view of sin. Sin is being out of harmony with God, and Jesus won the affection of the people because He brought them a vision and hope of becoming attuned with the infinite. And that splendid privilege we have today."

Wonderful Privilege of Christians. "Another striking thing about Christ which still attracts men is His view of the growth of the kingdom of God. And we in Maryville are drawn to Him by His promise of the wonderful opportunity to work with Him in driving out all evil."

"Finally, Jesus was heard gladly by the common people because He spoke with authority about the after-life. We in good health do not like to think about death, but it is well for us to remember at times that all must die. Then it is that we hear with joy the ringing assurance of Jesus that although a man die, he shall live again."

"Christ comes to us as a very real personality in the hour of great sorrow, and it is then that we love Him most. And loving Him as we must, when we think of what He has done for us, shall we not serve Him?"

The hymn "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung in closing. Rev. and Mrs. Finch will leave tomorrow morning for Omaha, where they will visit for a day with Rev. Finch's sister, going to Des Moines Wednesday, where they will attend the Home-Coming day of Drake university, of which he is an alumnus. He will occupy his new pulpit next Sunday morning in Milwaukee.

547 AT FIRST METHODIST

Rally Day Gathers 149 Adult Men Into Sunday School—"Time Legion" for Personal Evangelism.

An attendance of 547 gathered in the Sunday school of the First Methodist church yesterday morning for the annual rally day. Of these, 149 were adult men. Two programs were given under the direction of Miss Golda Alry and Miss N. Elizabeth Evans.

At the morning service, the pastor, Rev. G. S. Cox, presented the "Time Legion" which is a part of the "Methodist Forward" movement which extends from Easter 1915 to 1916. Persons are asked to sign a covenant to spend at least two hours a month in personal evangelism under the direction of the pastor.

The names of non-Christians are given to those signing the cards by the pastor. The work was proposed by the Commission on Evangelism of the Church.

NO BASKET BALL ACTION.

Committee Reports No Suitable Building in Center of Town.

The committee representing the various Sunday schools in the formation of a basket ball league met again yesterday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms. No definite action could be taken as the sub-committee appointed to look for a building in the center of the city suitable for a gymnasium reported that no such building could be found.

A discussion of the reviving of an agitation for a club building to be built by some person and rented to a Sunday school club or the erection of a Y. M. C. A. took most of the time, and nothing definite was done with reference to the organization of a permanent association until the matter of a building could be definitely settled.

MORE PRIZES NAMED

OTHER WINNERS IN EXHIBIT AND CONTESTS ANNOUNCED.

NICHOLAS BEST JUDGE

Dale Thompson, Also Maryville Boy, Second in Corn Judging—Barnard and Belle Grove Schools Win.

Two Maryville boys won first and second in the corn judging contest before R. A. Kinnaird Saturday. They were F. W. Nicholas and Dale Thompson. The other winners in the contest were: Dale Wiley, Hopkins, third; Charles Hartman, Barnard, fourth; Virgil Argo, Skidmore, fifth.

Miss Grace Boggs was the only entrant in the bread judging contest. She was given second prize. All those who expect to enter in the acre yield corn contest are warned by Bert Cooper, county superintendent, that they must have the proper blanks, which can be secured at his office. The corn may be gathered between November 1 and 20.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman of near Barnard were the greatest sensation of the Corn Show and Domestic Science association exhibits. They had entries in almost every class and carried off a lot of the money. A look down the list of prize winners shows Charlie, Mary, Lois, Arthur and Margaret. They were particularly strong in canned goods and garden products.

Several entries in the exhibits were overlooked Friday and many of the ribbons were replaced Saturday after The Democrat-Forum had its prize list in type. The necessary corrections and additional winners are given below. A complete list of the real winners in every class follows:

Class A

(This includes boys from 10 to 14 years of age).

THEY CELEBRATED THERE

BURLINGTON JUNCTION HAD OLD-TIME HALLOWE'EN.

But Boys Here Feared Bloodhounds and Laid Low—Two Cows in Mayor's Office.

It was Halloween in Burlington Junction all right Saturday night, but things were rather quiet here, save for a few "ghosts" and a jack o'lantern or two in each block. A hog crate was left on the library steps and stayed there until Monday.

Then doorknobs were tied to the front porch and seats were upset and many small boys "tick-tacked." But the threat of the bloodhounds of City Marshal Moberly evidently did the work. No property damage has been reported.

But it was different in the metropolis of western Nowaday, according to Pearl M. Taylor, who spent Sunday there with his wife and children, visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McMahan. Here is what he says he saw when he arrived there late Saturday night: An empty safe, weighing about four tons (authorities differ as to whether that was a Halloween prank or not); two cows tied in the office of Mayor George Mighnits. The big fire wagon was also on the job with a big red cow stringing along at the end of a piece of hose.

Other things out in the street were: Thirty-nine rolls of field fence, thirty-four chicken coops, two board sidewalks, about 60 feet of gas pipe, one large iron kettle, two buggies, two wagons, a corn binder, a had rake and a mowing machine.

He lost count of the number of barrels and other minor rubbish.

RALLY DAY GOAL IS 200

Buchanan Street Sunday School to Work for Big Attendance Sunday—Committees Appointed.

A goal of 200 at Sunday school has been set by the Sunday school of the Buchanan Street Methodist church, which will hold its annual rally day next Sunday morning. The presiding elder, the Rev. C. B. Duncan of St. Joseph will preach at both services.

R. C. Seal, superintendent, announced the appointment of committees yesterday morning. They are: Decorations—Mrs. L. P. Colvin, Mrs. R. M. Barry, Mrs. E. P. Dale and Mrs. R. C. Holliday.

Music, I. B. Williams, M. E. Peery and Mr. Chambers.

All committees will be under the direction of the pastor. About twenty men from the Wage Earners class have pledged themselves to give all or a part of the day next Saturday to visiting from house to house of the members of the church or of those who go to no church, to give a personal invitation to attend the Buchanan street church the following day.

Posters are to be printed and placed upon sticks in the yards of the members. Various members have promised to pay for lines of local reader ads in the papers of the city.

BIG BALKAN WEEK

GREECE AND ROMANIA EXPECTED TO MAKE DECISIONS.

NISH BEING BOMBARDED

Servian Capital and Important Point On Railroad to Constantinople Object of Fierce Attack.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Nov. 1.—This is regarded as the great critical week in the Balkans, and it is expected that Greece and Roumania will take definite action about entering the war.

The Bulgarians continue to invade northeast Servia and are drawing their lines tighter about Kragujevatz. They have already captured Gransko. An Athens dispatch tells of desperate fighting along the Dorian line, indicating that the Bulgarians are invading Servia, southwest of Strumnitza and contradicting the French claims of success there.

Montenegrins Are Active.

Getting, Nov. 1.—The Montenegrin army has captured Montgora and Drina river positions from the Austrians, according to an official announcement last night. Heavy losses were inflicted on the losers.

Nish Is Being Shelled.

Sofia, Nov. 1.—The Bulgarians are shelling Nish, the capital of Servia, and the most important point on the railroad from Belgrade to Constantinople. It is this line which is the chief objective of the Teutonic operations in the Balkans.

Turks Sink French Submarine.

Constantinople, Nov. 1.—The Turkish artillery sunk the French submarine "Turquoise" off the Gallipoli peninsula. All the crew were saved and made prisoners.

Russian Troops Now in Bulgaria.

The Russian fleet of transports conveyed by warships has arrived at Varna in Bulgaria, and the bombardment of Varna has been renewed with increased violence.

PUBLISHER KILLS SELF.

St. Louis Times Owner and Prominent Man in Society and Business Activity of St. Louis a Suicide.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—Edward Prectorius, publisher of the St. Louis Times and Westliche Post, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head, in his bathroom at his home this morning at seven-thirty. He had been ill for a year following an automobile accident.

He arose at six o'clock this morning in good spirits and laughed and joked at the breakfast table. He then went into the bathroom and a revolver shot was heard shortly afterwards.

No reason is known for the action except ill health.

Friends say that they believe that he had given up hopes of recovery although he gave no indication of despair. He was in a Chicago sanitarium for a while last spring. He leaves a wife and baby and was prominent in the social and business life of the city.

Mrs. B. C. Hoffline Here.

Mrs. B. C. Hoffline of Des Moines, Ia., arrived in the city yesterday morning for a few days' visit with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Martin. Mrs. Hoffline will join Mr. Hoffline in St. Joseph in a few days to make their home.

A marriage license was issued Monday by Recorder Baker to James Conklin, Jr., of Maryville and Ruby Carter of Kansas City.

TAXES ARE NOW DUE

Both Township and City Collector Preparing to Collect—A Few Paid Today to Township.

Taxes are now ready to be collected, and both Township Collector L. C. Gann and City Collector Elmer W. Barrock are preparing for the work.

The township tax to be collected this year is $87,343.16, of which $7,589.06 is on county personal, $20,964.68 on town personal, $29,510.20 on country real estate and $29,279.22 on town real estate. Mr. Gann's office is the Robey & Gann office, on North Main street. Only a few had paid their taxes up to today, the rush to come a few days before the first of the year, when, after that time, a penalty is added.

City Collector Barrock hasn't yet received his books from the city, which will probably be ready for him tomorrow. The city was delayed a few days, having to wait several days after ordering a tax book. Mr. Barrock's office will be in the Cook & Vogt produce house, on the east side of the square.

WEDDING NEAR DEC. 25

WHITE HOUSE STOPS RUMORS BY DEFINITE STATEMENT.

No Invitations Will Be Issued and Only Close Friends Will Attend at Bride's Home.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The White House unexpectedly issued the announcement that in order to quiet speculation the president and Mrs. Galt authorized the statement that their marriage would take place some time near the close of December, at Mrs. Galt's residence. It will be very simple and no announcements will be issued. It is expected that the only guests will be members of the families. Tumulty refused to make any comment. It had been expected that the announcement would be made only a few days before the wedding.

OTHER SOCIETIES ELECTED

B. Y. P. U. and Epworth League of First Methodist Favor Federation of Young People's Societies.

The two other young people's societies voted last night to enter the federation of societies and elected representatives. The Epworth League of the First Methodist church elected Miss Edna O'Neal to serve with their president, Virgil Hartness. The B. Y. P. U. elected Miss Julia Denny to be on their committee with Lee Meek, president of that society.

The full committee will meet Thursday night in the basement of the library at 7:30 to complete the reorganization of the federation. The other members of the committee are: Christian Endeavor, Miss Bertha Anderson, Mrs. E. B. Burnett and Miss Florence Shullenberger; Presbyterian, Philip Colbert and the Rev. William Moll Case; Buchanan Street Methodist, I. B. Williams and Vernon Nash.

The constitution of the federation of societies which was in effect two years ago will probably be adopted again largely as it is.

MRS. M. A. MARTIN INJURED.

Slipped and Fell Saturday Afternoon and Broke Wrist Bones.

Mrs. M. A. Martin was severely injured Saturday afternoon when she slipped and fell and broke her wrist. The accident happened about 5 o'clock while Mrs. Martin was walking along Main street. Just as she stepped off the curb to cross the street she fell and her wrist was broken when she attempted to protect herself. Both bones were broken and the accident was a very painful one.

VILLA THINKS HE CAN WHIP U.S.

REBEL GETS VERY ANGRY WHEN HEARING OF OPPOSITION.

GENERAL FUNSTON GOES TO DOUGLAS

BULLETIN.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 1.—Six thousand soldiers took positions on the United States side of the border to protect the United States against Villa, who began an assault on Agua Prieta this afternoon.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 1.—Border conditions at Douglas, Ariz., have become so critical that Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston, commanding general of the southern department, left last night for the Arizona town in order that he may personally supervise the movements of the American army along the border in that vicinity. He will arrive in Douglas Tuesday morning.

"If necessary, I will fight the United States army assembled along the border," Villa asserted after hearing this afternoon for the first time that the American government had given permission for Carranza to transport troops from Laredo and Eagle Pass, Texas, to re-enforce the garrison at Agua Prieta.

Villa began moving his troops into position tonight for an attack on Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here, regardless, he personally declared, of any consequences or effects from the United States.

Villa asked again if it were true that the United States government had permitted General Carranza to transport re-enforcements over American territory, then, continuing, he said:

"This is the way the United States repays me for the treatment and protection I have given foreigners in Mexico. Hereafter I don't give a damn what happens to foreigners in Mexico—or in my territory."

Villa Has 10,000 Soldiers.

Villa, according to reliable estimates, has ten thousand soldiers. He claims to have eighteen thousand. The battle may begin at any moment. That it will be ended quickly as possible is the general opinion here, based on the condition of his men, thousands of whom were thirsty tonight, in positions far from water and with all scant supplies of food, according to Villa's own testimony and reports of three Mexican ranchers who arrived across the border tonight, stripped of everything they possessed.

"I am through with the United States. I can fight my battles. Let them fight theirs."

"I can whip Carranza and his entire army, but it is asking a great deal to whip the United States; but I suppose I can do that, too."

A suit filed today in Circuit Clerk Westfall's office was Albert F. Mutti et al. vs. Marion Neal, on a note. S. E. Browne of Hopkins is the attorney for the plaintiffs.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

October was the best so far. Here's hoping for November.

As one small boy remarked yesterday, we would like to have a pumpkin pie made of the nice pumpkins that were wasted in "Jack o'lanterns" Saturday night.

The farmers' institute must have benefited some one a little judging from the bushels of corn used in window decorations.

The only objection so far urged against Judge Ellison for governor is that he is too good a man for the place, and this came from Republican sources that fear his strength.

Notwithstanding the wonderful showing made by the German army, the allies' supremacy of the seas is having its effect slowly but surely. There is no question but shortage of food in Germany is creating a desperate situation, and unless they can get an early outlet, will force an end to the war. Men can carry on business and fight under many difficulties, but an empty stomach is not one of them. German's wonderful interior resources have been well managed, but with practically all her able bodied men under arms and engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war, the country must have some supplies from the outside. With the recent submarine activity of the British cutting off intercourse between Germany and Norway, Sweden and Denmark and the blockading of the Balkan coasts on the south, the situation is one of complete isolation for Germany.

SMALL TOWNS MUST WAKE UP.

J. R. Moorhead, secretary of the Southwest Lumbermen's association, in a recent discussion before a banker-farmer conference at Chicago, on the general subject of bringing the farms and the small towns closer together, made the following pertinent observations:

"There are at least twice as many people living in our small cities as in our fifty large cities. Yet a prevalent opinion is current that all the people to be fed by the producers on the farms are congregated in the great centers.

"By eliminating the middleman, the home market is the most profitable to the producer if conducted upon the proper scale. A survey of nine states has been made which shows that more than six thousand towns and small cities lost population in the last decade. Strange to say, this decline is most marked in the thickest populated parts of the state.

"To the people living in these towns it means a loss of business, depreciation of farm land values, a shrinkage in bank deposits, the drifting away of the young people in the towns and the avoidances of such places by the youth of the country. Its culmination will be segregation of business in the great centers and the downfall of the small business man and banker.

"The remedy of this evil lies first in co-operation between the business and then a reaching out until the gulf which exists between the town people and the farmers has been bridged. This is a great quartet of interest in this country which, if brought together to a common working standard, would be able of performing wonders in this direction. I refer to the bankers, business men, the farm press and the country papers.

"The movement inaugurated by the bankers for the upbuilding and increasing the efficiency of the farm, is the great movement of the day. Community building—the blotting out of the corporate limits and extending the influence of the commercial club and like business men in the towns today. It has been learned by experience that the farming communities about us are in hearty sympathy. Many towns are now doing everything possible to extend their influence and to promote in every way the feeling of friendship and the co-operation of all classes."

AND so it is with every Great Achievement, whether it be ancient or modern, had the power of publicity been eliminated it probably would never have been.

Every merchant knows that there are many things which go to produce a successful business. The right goods at the right time, new goods, up-to-date goods, quick deliveries and pleasant salespeople are a few of the elements that produce sales.

But the biggest element back of the modern business is the publicity, the advertising of that business. More than 75 per cent of the business failures of today are the non-advertisers. This statement is backed up by plain cold figures. It surely has a vital meaning to men who want their business to grow and prosper.

The buyers of today are keen eyed and progressive. They do their buying the modern way, through reading the advertisements.

Publicity brings new customers and retains old ones. It is the big factor in producing achievement in modern business.

And so it is with every achievement, whether it be ancient or modern. Had the power of publicity been eliminated it probably would never have been.

3 MASSES FOR PEACE DAILY

Pope Grants Special Prayer Rights for
The Sake of Intercession
for Peace.

For the first time in the history of the Catholic church the privilege has been granted the priests by the pope to hold three masses in a single day, with the exception of Christmas day, as means whereby from every part of the world there will go forth from the Catholic altar a fervent supplication that peace again reign among the warring nations.

Announcement of the apostolic constitution has been made by Bishop Thomas F. Lillis of Kansas City. He has issued circular letters to all priests in the Kansas City diocese calling their attention to the favor extended by Pope Benedict XV. Simultaneously with the issuance by Bishop Lillis of the official notification was his formal appeal extended to the churches of his diocese for financial assistance for the starving mothers and children in the revolution ridden republic of Mexico. The appeal for the Catholics in Mexico, issued as an official communication by Bishop Lillis is addressed "to the faithful of the diocese of Kansas City, Mo."

Protect Your Eyes From The Movies.

The progress made in the character of subjects presented in the movies today, makes it desirable for all enquiring people to at least attend occasionally. Annoying after effects on the eyes of many prevent them from enjoying the social diversion and often the educational advantages thus derived. The great majority of those who suffer from eye strain after watching moving pictures can find much, if not complete relief, in perfectly fitted glasses. The pictures may not be quite so sharp, but this is more than compensated for by the increased comfort. For those with very sensitive eyes, a colored glass, either amber, yellowish green or amethyst, may be necessary to give complete relief. There have been put on the market recently several varieties of colored glass, each of which has some advantages, so that some suitable color can usually be secured. A subdued light in the theater is much less irritating than when the only light visible comes from the screen. It is also advisable to avoid sitting in a place where it is necessary to look upward, as the additional strain becomes very tiresome, and frequently leaves a headache.

Robinson-Gray.

A romance in which a wide circle of friends in this city have taken a keen interest culminated Saturday night in the marriage of Miss Mildred Robinson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Paul Robinson, to Mr. Edward Wright Gray, which took place at 7:30 o'clock at the Robinson home, on West Third street. The Rev. Robert Lyle Finch, pastor of the First Christian church, read the marriage lines, using the ring service.

While the vows were taken the bride and groom stood upon a green velvet rug in the living room, under a bower of southern smilax, from the center of which hung a large bell made of white bride's roses, with an electric light suspended from the center. Tall bay trees at each side and smilax and ferns for a background formed an improvised bower. Tall vases and baskets filled with white chrysanthemums were placed everywhere available in the living room, parlor and reception room, and ropes of southern smilax twined the door grills and stair.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Kathleen Hurst sang two songs, "Yesterday and Today," by Spross, and "At Dawning," by Cadman. Mrs. Ralph Eversole accompanied Miss Hurst, and at the close of the songs she played for a processional the wedding march from "Lohengrin." During the ceremony Mrs. Eversole played the variations of "Annie Laurie," and afterwards the march from Mendelssohn.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore an exquisite imported Dresden gown of silver metal lace made over white satin. The bodice and short puffed sleeves were entirely of soft silver thread lace, and the double flounces of the same lace which fell over the skirt were embroidered in a rose design. Around the bottom of the skirt was a tiny border of lace over which fell loops of pearls secured with small bunches of tiny white buds. The court train was fastened with rhinestone cabochons and was secured at the waist in Greek fashion with a heavy white silk cord. Her full length tulle veil hung from a Juliet cap of real lace threaded over with pearls and rhinestones. With it she wore shoes of white kid with iridescent beading, and carried an arm shower of bride roses, tulle and valley lilies. The bouquet was given the bride by the Maryville chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she is a member. Miss Carrie Margaret Baker, who was maid of honor, wore a pale blue chiffon taffeta with trimmings of gold lace. Miss Marjorie Wilfley, Miss Ruth Reuillard and Miss Virginia Robinson were bridesmaids. Miss Wilfley's gown was an embroidered lavender taffeta. Miss Reuillard's pink taffeta with frillings of pink mulline, and Miss Robinson's of peach blow chiffon taffeta. They all carried hand bouquets of Taft roses. Charles Robinson Bell, the small nephew of the bride, carried the ring in a white rose. Mr. Magnus Tate attended Mr. Gray as best man. After the congratulations a supper was served. The dining table held a large cluster of pink Killarney roses for a centerpiece. On the buffet and sideboards were baskets of pink roses and white chrysanthemums. The ices were in the form of pink slippers and pink hearts with white cupid on the top, and the cakes and bon bons were pink and heart shaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller. In the dining room Mrs. George B. Baker, Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend, Miss Bertha Beal and Miss May Orear served, assisted by Mrs. Oliver Kurby Bovard, Miss Eleanor Smith, Miss Geneva Wilfley, Miss Vera Tilson, Miss Ora Barmann and Miss Martha Koch. The other assisting friends were Mrs. John Richey, Mrs. Ed W. Keck, Mrs. L. E. Forsyth, Mrs. E. F. Wolfert, Mrs. Clive Graves, Miss Jennie Garrett, Miss Dale Hoffman and Miss Blanche Shipp.

Many exquisite gowns were worn by the women present on this occasion. Mrs. F. P. Robinson wore a beautiful gown of pale blue messaline with gold lace trimmings and carried Killarney roses. Mrs. James B. Robinson was dressed in a handsome gown of black panne velvet with trimmings of iridescent beads. Mrs. Bell wore a salmon pink crepe de chine with trimmings of gold lace, and Mrs. Arthur Miller a gown of pale pink crepe. Miss Hurst wore a frock of watermelon pink satin striped marquisette, trimmed in marten fur. About eighty guests attended the wedding, among the out-of-town ones being Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright and Miss Golda Wright of Blockton, Ia., Mrs. J. B. Swearingen of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Gray of Parnell, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Wright of Bedison, Miss Kathleen Hurst and Mr. Dillard J. Thomas of Tarkio.

Mr. Gray and his bride left Saturday night on the Wabash for St. Louis, where they will spend a week visiting. They will be at home after November 20, in the W. C. Smith residence, on West Third street. The bride's going away gown was a coat suit of midnight blue chiffon broadcloth trimmed in marten fur and with it was worn a small black hat trimmed in black French tips.

SAHARA IS MOST VALUABLE

Date Trees Make It Worth So Much,
But United States Don't Appreciate Forests.

The most valuable land in the world is in the Sahara Desert. It is made valuable by the date trees that cover every spot where enough water can be had to make them grow. This great land value comes because man has there utilized the productive power of the tree, nature's greatest engine of production. It is really remarkable that we in the United States have used trees so little to do our work for us.

An orchard of black walnuts, or shagbark hickories, or native hazels, or Ohio valley pecans, with trees as good as the best wild ones now growing would be very, very valuable. Why don't we have them? Merely because we haven't noticed and haven't thought it is high time we caught up with the people of the desert.

We happen to have a million good Baldwin apple trees and another million good navel orange trees, because somebody took pains to tell about the original good wild tree that started the million. By budding and grafting, that one Baldwin apple tree has become the parent of many millions. We now know how to propagate all the nut trees, and can turn one good shagbark or black walnut or pecan or hazel into millions. But where are the suitable parent trees from which to graft and bud?

To help bring promising nut trees to light, and thus start a new industry the Northern Nut Growers' Association is offering cash prizes of from $10 to $50 for the best tree of black walnuts, butternuts, shagbark hickories, hazel nuts and northern pecans. Send a dozen nuts from the best nut tree of any kind that you know of to Dr. W. C. Deming, secretary of the Northern Nut Growers Association, Georgetown, Connecticut, and ask for particulars of the prizes and rules of the contest.

We hope some of our readers will get these prizes, for there are some very fine nuts produced in the territory covered by this paper.

DOCTOR'S DISMISSAL SENSATION.

Cornell University Medical Man Makes "Cancer Cures" Public.

New York, Nov. 1.—The dismissal of Dr. Silas P. Beebe from the faculty of Cornell university medical college (this department is in New York City) because of his methods in making public his advocacy of autolysin, a new cancer remedy now being tried in many parts of the country, is a burning topic in medical circles.

Physicians who do not advocate the use of autolysin are still disposed to defend Dr. Beebe's publicity course. Many declare there should be a "freedom of the medical profession," just as there is a "freedom of the press."

Dr. Beebe is a man of high standing in his profession. He had been professor of experimental therapeutics in Cornell since 1909. He has the degrees of M. S. and Ph. D. from Yale, and M. D. from Cornell.

He has been known as an expert to serum treatments for various diseases. He developed serums for goitre and Graves' disease.

UNDERGROUND JOB ALL RIGHT.

Yale's Third Baseman Turned Down $5,000 Job With Giants.

This is the latest story they tell on Jawn McGraw, concerning his unsuccessful efforts to secure John Reilly, star third baseman for Yale, as third sacker for the Giants.

"I'll give you a job at $5,000 a year to play for my team," said Jawn to John.

"Kind sir," said John to Jawn, "I cannot accept because I am going to take a job in the New York subway at 20 cents an hour."

"But, my boy," said Jawn to John, "if you work 10 hours a day every day in the year you'll get only about $730 from the subway job. I offer you $5,000 to work two hours a day for six months."

"But I want to work underground," objected Reilly.

"I'm offering you a celler job—I'm asking you to play with the Giants, ain't I?" Jawn is quoted as answering.

You are wanted as one of 200 at the Buchanan Street Methodist Sunday School next Sunday.

DON ADOLPHO

By JANE OSBORN.

Nathaniel Ewing was the junior partner in the furniture company of McGuire & Ewing, and, as such things usually go, everyone expected that he would some day marry Katie, Barry McGuire's pretty daughter. It was as plain as day that Nat was head over heels in love with Katie. The florist and the confectioner could have told you that he sent roses and bonbons to Katie almost every week, and no girl in her right mind, people said, could have refused Nat. So the matter seemed as good as settled. But it wasn't.

"Nat," Katie said to him one Saturday afternoon as they were walking home from the country club, where they had had their round of tennis. "Nat, I think you had better not send me the flowers and the candy any more—people are beginning to talk."

"Well, what if they are?" Nat was perfectly cheerful. It had never really occurred to him that there could be any serious obstacle in the way of winning Katie's hand.

"Well," Katie fumbled with the strings of her racket—"if I should ever marry—if I were to be married soon, for instance, people might say that I should not have let you spend so much money for me."

"Any one in mind?" asked Nat.

"What do you know about it?" exclaimed Katie. "Did father tell you? Did you read the letters?"

Nat suddenly recalled the fact that he had noticed a rather copious correspondence bearing Spanish stamps and postmarks that had been coming into the office for the past six weeks. He had thought nothing about it, but now his curiosity and jealousy were aroused.

"Well, then," said Katie, somewhat relieved, "I might as well tell you all about it, if father hasn't. You see, father had a cousin, Doloretta, a very beautiful girl, they say, and before father left Ireland for the United States this cousin ran away to Paris, where she taught as a governess in some nobleman's family, and there it was that she met the Spanish gentleman who married her—my Adolpho's father."

"Your Adolpho?" exclaimed Nat. They had now reached the McGuire house and were sitting on the steps of the shady veranda.

"That is what I call him. I have just had one letter from him, with his picture. All the rest of the correspondence has been between his lawyer and my father. And we expect he'll be here within a month, just as soon as father sends the check. He hasn't come into his money yet, and he wants father to advance enough for him to come over to America with. Isn't it thrilling?" And Adolpho is so good looking—so foreign and distinguished.

"I wish you joy," was Nat's sullen comment, as he sauntered down the street toward his boarding house, leaving Katie to her castles in Spain.

It was three weeks later, and, according to schedule, Adolpho was on the ocean and would soon be at the house of McGuire, Barry McGuire had sent the $200 to pay expenses, in gold, according to direction, the day of Katie's talk with Nat.

Katie had been living in a high state of excitement, and Nat, for some reason, had been going about his work with an air of mild content.

"Your Adolpho will soon be here," he said to her one night, after an evening business talk with her father. "That Dago cousin of yours is certainly lucky."

"He isn't a Dago," protested Katie. "Spaniards aren't Dagos at all. Anyway, I am not so sure I am going to like him right away. I wish you wouldn't tease me so, Nat."

Mr. McGuire laughed. "Perhaps Nat is a little jealous," he joked. "Perhaps he wishes the Spanish cousin in Halifax. But we shall see, we shall see."

Nat had been opening a newspaper clipping that he had carefully folded in his pocket. It was from one of the New York papers, and he spread it out before his partner.

"Maybe this will interest you," he said, pointing to the headlines: "Skillful Spanish Intrigue Exposed. Gang of Crooks Work Bunco on Easy Marks All Over the Country. May Be Scores of Victims."

Mr. McGuire and Katie read through the article quickly.

"Oh, well," said Katie, tossing her pretty head after a minute's reflection. "I don't know as I would have cared to marry a Spaniard, anyhow."

And Nat, responding to the cue, took one of Katie's hands appreciatively in his.

But Mr. McGuire sat with his head buried in his hands.

"I don't care so much about the Spanish cousin," he said. "It isn't that, but what a fool I've been. What of my $200—now when business is dull, too?"

"Oh, that's where I have a little confession to make," said Nat, now taking both of Katie's hands. "Maybe it was because I was jealous and maybe it was because I suspected something crooked in this deal. But when you asked me to have the gold sent from the bank I took the gold instead and put into the office safe. I thought it would do you more good there than in the pocket of some unknown Spanish cousin."

MANY BRIDGE DELEGATIONS

County Court Unable to Take Up Proposition of $100,000 Bond Issue—Jackson Men Remonstrate.

The November session of the county court met today and most of the time was occupied with hearing delegations wanting new bridges.

A petition from Jackson township was presented to the court requesting that a road be changed northwest of Ravenwood. The proposed road is for a half mile and is near the Platte river. The petition will be placed on file, and if no remonstrance at the next term of court, the change will probably be ordered.

The court did not get to the bond issue petition for $100,000 for bridges. It will come up later in the week unless the petition is withdrawn by the signers.

AUFFERT LOSES IN K. C.

The decision of the appellate court was announced to W. G. Sawyers in a telegram received at noon today from L. F. McCoy, clerk of the Kansas City court. The state's case was submitted on briefs only.

The case was heard in the September, 1914, circuit court here. Mr. Auffert lives on the Charles Carr farm, south of Maryville. A wire fence was set one and two feet outside a hedge fence on a public road.

CARRIER EXAMINATION.

One to Be Held in Maryville on November 27 to Fill Vacancy at Graham.

Eldon W. Irvin, secretary of the civil service commission at Maryville postoffice, received the following from United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C.:

The United States civil service commission announced an examination for the county of Nodaway, to be held at Maryville, on November 27, 1915, to fill the position of rural carrier at Graham and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post-offices in the above mentioned county.

The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a postoffice in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C. ### MISS DELUCE'S LECTURE.

Normal Teacher Tells of "Service of Art to Home" in Women's Conference.

In the closing lecture of the second women's conference of the Farm and Home Institute Saturday afternoon, Miss Olive DeLuce of the fine arts department of the Normal school spoke on the "Service of Art to the Home."

She said that unity in design and color should exist throughout the whole house, and that three divisions are very important, ceiling, floor and walls. These are the first things one notices and should be most considered.

As a general thing, the speaker advocated that the floor should be dark, the ceiling light and the walls medium. The hearers were warned against too much elaborateness in decorations and ornaments in the home.

Hain't Hit Fierce.

Editing a newspaper is a pleasing business—if you can stand it.

If subscribers want to bawl out anybody—the editor's the goat.

If the town is lagging behind and people won't get out and make things hum—it's because the town paper is on the bum.

If business is bad—it's because the editor wants too much money for his advertising space.

If business is good—advertising hasn't anything to do with it, but conditions are right.

If we print what pleases people—that is our duty and we deserve no credit.

If we print what is displeasing—we are a grouch and a crepe-hanger, and don't deserve the patronage of the public.

If we print the news as it is actually—the people call us over the phone and tell us to stop their paper.

If we garble it—they tell us we are subsidized by the corporate interests. Editing a newspaper is a pleasin business—it is not! Yes?

Best for Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

BIG CROWD TELLS
FINCH "GOODBYE"UNION FAREWELL SERVICE PACKS
CHRISTIAN CHURCH.JESUS THE CENTRAL

"And the Common People Heard Him Gladly" Was Pastor's Text—Music a Feature of the Service.

"Jammed and packed" are sometimes overworked as applied to crowds but the audience which gathered into the First Christian church last night in a union farewell service to the Rev. Robert L. Finch, pastor of the church, really did pack and crowd the church completely full.

People sat in windows, and chairs were in every place possible. The four pastors of the other Protestant churches sat upon the platform and took part in the service. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. R. C. Holliday, pastor of the Buchanan Street Methodist church.

The Rev. L. M. Hale, pastor of the Baptist church, led in the opening prayer, and the Rev. William Moll Case, pastor of the Presbyterian church, delivered the benediction. The Rev. G. S. Cox sang a solo before the sermon. Mrs. F. P. Robinson sang "Arise, Shine for Thy Light is Come," by McDermid, and the choir sang an anthem the "Gloria" from the mass by Farmer.

The closing music was one of the most beautiful selections of sacred music to which a Maryville audience has listened. Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Prof. H. B. Schuler and Mr. Cox sang "Praise Ye" from the opera, "Attila." The Rev. G. S. Cox, president of the Ministerial Alliance, and Prof. Harry A. Miller for the Y. M. C. A. of the State Normal School, read resolutions of regard for Mr. Finch and regret at his leaving.

Ministers "Regular Fellows," in his introductory remarks, the retiring pastor, who will become the minister of the Park and Prospect Christian church in Milwaukee next Sunday, said that he appreciated to the full the large attendance at the "obsequies." He said that the courtesy of his fellow ministers appealed to him particularly.

"As I turn around and look at them, however," he said, "I see but two of the old guard left who were here when I came. I know that they are regular fellows and in my short acquaintance with the other two, I have found that even if they are parsons, as one old lady once said, 'they are almost human.'"

"As I face these ministers, I can say that I pray that the victory may be to the faithful. And I will be frank to say that I would with all my heart, that I might stay and fight with them. You may know, whatever you do, pastors and people, for Maryville, that my heart will be with you.

"Mrs. Finch said to me this afternoon that she wanted me to hit the saloons whatever else I said tonight. But I am not here tonight to hit anything or anybody. Yet I will say that nothing you can do will bring me more pleasure than to hear that you have driven these holes of vice and corruption from the city. On the other hand, nothing can hurt me more than to hear that you have failed in that regard."

Anti-Saloon Remarks Cheered.

Mr. Finch's remarks against the saloons were greeted with handclapping. He said that he was sorry that the large number of receptions he and Mrs. Finch had been given this week had made it impossible for him to prepare for his sermon as he should have preferred. He desired to present to his hearers the great, central and outstanding figure of history, Jesus Christ.

His text was Mark 12:37: "And the common people heard Him gladly." The great middle class were the ones, the preacher said, who had accepted and followed Christ in every age. This is significant because in the long time, the common people are never wrong, as Abraham Lincoln said in another well-known way.

"The church today faces the plain fact that large masses of the people are out of sympathy with the church and the kind of Christ it presents. We have the great task of so presenting Jesus to the common people that they will hear Him gladly in this day.

"A man of genius is really a part of the common people, for all of them have risen from the common people and kept their spirit of brotherhood. But it is the 'somebodies' in every age, those people who set themselves up as being better than their fellows to whom the spirit of Christ makes no appeal. Thus men like Franklin, Carlyle, Napoleon and others expressed their admiration of Christ and their belief in His divinity."

Mr. Finch said that it was the ideal character of Jesus and His assurance to all people that what He was they might become which attracted them to Him. It was that which made a publican a mighty leader, and by which a few fishermen conquered an empire.

Christ brought what science could not give, the knowledge of a loving and tender God. Jesus made God real and close to the hearts of the common people, and therefore they heard Him gladly, said the speaker.

"The test of any man's theology is his view of sin. Sin is being out of harmony with God, and Jesus won the affection of the people because He brought them a vision and hope of becoming attuned with the infinite. And that splendid privilege we have today.

Wonderful Privilege of Christians.

"Another striking thing about Christ which still attracts men is His view of the growth of the kingdom of God. And we in Maryville are drawn to Him by His promise of the wonderful opportunity to work with Him in driving out all evil.

"Finally, Jesus was heard gladly by the common people because He spoke with authority about the after-life. We in good health do not like to think about death, but it is well for us to remember at times that all must die. Then it is that we hear with joy the ringing assurance of Jesus that although a man die, he shall live again.

"Christ comes to us as a very real personality in the hour of great sorrow, and it is then that we love Him most. And loving Him as we must, when we think of what He has done for us, shall we not serve Him?"

The hymn "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung in closing. Rev. and Mrs. Finch will leave tomorrow morning for Omaha, where they will visit for a day with Rev. Finch's sister, going to Des Moines Wednesday, where they will attend the Home-Coming day of Drake university, of which he is an alumnus. He will occupy his new pulpit next Sunday morning in Milwaukee.

Rally Day Gathers 149 Adult Men Into Sunday School—"Time Legion" for Personal Evangelism.

An attendance of 547 gathered in the Sunday school of the First Methodist church yesterday morning for the annual rally day. Of these, 149 were adult men. Two programs were given under the direction of Miss Gilda Atry and Miss N. Elizabeth Evans.

At the morning service, the pastor, Rev. G. S. Cox, presented the "Time Legion" which is a part of the "Methodist Forward" movement which extends from Easter 1915 to 1916. Persons are asked to sign a covenant to spend at least two hours a month in personal evangelism under the direction of the pastor.

The names of non-Christians are given to those signing the cards by the pastor. The work was proposed by the Commission on Evangelism of the Church.

NO BASKET BALL ACTION.

Committee Reports No Suitable Building in Center of Town.

The committee representing the various Sunday schools in the formation of a basket ball league met again yesterday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms. No definite action could be taken as the sub-committee appointed to look for a building in the center of the city suitable for a gymnasium reported that no such building could be found.

A discussion of the reviving of an agitation for a club building to be built by some person and rented to a Sunday school club or the erection of a Y. M. C. A. took most of the time, and nothing definite was done with reference to the organization of a permanent association until the matter of a building could be definitely settled.

MORE PRIZES NAMED

OTHER WINNERS IN EXHIBIT AND CONTESTS ANNOUNCED.

NICHOLAS BEST JUDGE

Dale Thompson, Also Maryville Boy, Second in Corn Judging—Barnard and Belle Grove Schools Win.

Two Maryville boys won first and second in the corn judging contest before R. A. Kinnaird Saturday. They were F. W. Nicholas and Dale Thompson. The other winners in the contest were: Dale Wiley, Hopkins, third; Charles Hartman, Barnard, fourth; Virgil Argo, Skidmore, fifth.

Miss Grace Boggs was the only entrant in the bread judging contest. She was given second prize. All those who expect to enter in the acre yield corn contest are warned by Bert Cooper, county superintendent, that they must have the proper blanks, which can be secured at his office. The corn may be gathered between November 1 and 20.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman of near Barnard were the greatest sensation of the Corn Show and Domestic Science association exhibits. They had entries in almost every class and carried off a lot of the money. A look down the list of prize winners shows Charlie, Mary, Lois, Arthur and Margaret. They were particularly strong in canned goods and garden products.

Several entries in the exhibits were overlooked Friday and many of the ribbons were replaced Saturday after The Democrat-Forum had its prize list in type. The necessary corrections and additional winners are given below. A complete list of the real winners in every class follows:

Class A

(This includes boys from 10 to 14 years of age).

It was asserted that the law was passed so that the industries of the state for its own protection might be manned with 80 per cent of workers owing allegiance to the government of the United States.

THEY CELEBRATED THERE

BURLINGTON JUNCTION HAD OLD-TIME HALLOWE'EN.

But Boys Here Feared Bloodhounds and Laid Low—Two Cows in Mayor's Office.

It was Halloween in Burlington Junction all right Saturday night, but things were rather quiet here, save for a few "ghosts" and a jack o'lantern or two in each block. A hog crate was left on the library steps and stayed there until Monday.

Then doorknobs were tied to the front porch and seats were upset and many small boys "tick-tacked." But the threat of the bloodhounds of City Marshal Moberly evidently did the work. No property damage has been reported.

But it was different in the metropolis of western nodaway, according to Pearl M. Taylor, who spent Sunday there with his wife and children, visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McMahan. Here is what he says he saw when he arrived there late Saturday night: An empty safe, weighing about four tons (authorities differ as to whether that was a Halloween prank or not); two cows tied in the office of Mayor George Mighnits. The big fire wagon was also on the job with a big red cow stringing along at the end of a piece of hose.

Other things out in the street were: Thirty-nine rolls of field fence, thirty-four chicken coops, two board sidewalks, about 60 feet of gas pipe, one large iron kettle, two buggies, two wagons, a corn binder, a had rake and a mowing machine.

He lost count of the number of barrels and other minor rubbish.

RALLY DAY GOAL IS 200

A goal of 200 at Sunday school has been set by the Sunday school of the Buchanan Street Methodist church, which will hold its annual rally day next Sunday morning. The presiding elder, the Rev. C. B. Duncan of St. Joseph will preach at both services.

R. C. Seal, superintendent, announced the appointment of committees yesterday morning. They are: Decorations—Mrs. L. P. Colvin, Mrs. R. M. Barry, Mrs. E. P. Dale and Mrs. R. C. Holliday.

BIG BALKAN WEEK

GREECE AND ROUMANIA EXPECTED TO MAKE DECISIONS.

NISH BEING BOMBARDED

Servian Capital and Important Point On Railroad to Constantinople Object of Fierce Attack.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Nov. 1.—This is regarded as the great critical week in the Balkans, and it is expected that Greece and Roumania will take definite action about entering the war.

The Bulgarians continue to invade northeast Serbia and are drawing their lines tighter about Kragujevatz. They have already captured Gransko. An Athens dispatch tells of desperate fighting along the Dorian line, indicating that the Bulgarians are invading Serbia, southwest of Strumnitza and contradicting the French claims of success there.

Montenegrins Are Active.

Getting, Nov. 1.—The Montenegrin army has captured Montgora and Drina river positions from the Austrians, according to an official announcement last night. Heavy losses were inflicted on the losers.

Nish is Being Shelled.

Sofia, Nov. 1.—The Bulgarians are shelling Nish, the capital of Serbia, and the most important point on the railroad from Belgrade to Constantinople. It is this line which is the chief objective of the Teutonic operations in the Balkans.

Turks Sink French Submarine. Constantinople, Nov. 1.—The Turkish artillery sunk the French submarine "Turquoise" off the Gallipoli peninsula. All the crew were saved and made prisoners.

Russian Troops Now in Bulgaria. The Russian fleet of transports conveyed by warships has arrived at Varna in Bulgaria, and the bombardment of Varna has been renewed with increased violence.

PUBLISHER KILLS SELF.

St. Louis Times Owner and Prominent Man in Society and Business Activity of St. Louis a Suicide.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—Edward Prentiss, publisher of the St. Louis Times and Westliche Post, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head, in his bathroom at his home this morning at seven-thirty. He had been ill for a year following an automobile accident.

He arose at six o'clock this morning in good spirits and laughed and joked at the breakfast table. He then went into the bathroom and a revolver shot was heard shortly afterwards.

No reason is known for the action except ill health.

Friends say that they believe that he had given up hopes of recovery although he gave no indication of despair. He was in a Chicago sanitarium for a while last spring. He leaves a wife and baby and was prominent in the social and business life of the city.

Mrs. B. C. Hoffhine Here.

Mrs. B. C. Hoffhine of Des Moines, Ia., arrived in the city yesterday morning for a few days' visit with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Martin. Mrs. Hoffhine will join Mr. Hoffhine in St. Joseph in a few days to make their home.

TAXES ARE NOW DUE

Both Township and City Collector Preparing to Collect—A Few Paid Today to Township.

Taxes are now ready to be collected, and both Township Collector L. C. Gann and City Collector Elmer W. Barrock are preparing for the work. The township tax to be collected this year is $87,343.16, of which $7,589.06 is on county personal, $20,964.68 on town personal, $29,510.20 on country real estate and $29,279.22 on town real estate. Mr. Gann's office is the Robey & Gann office, on North Main street. Only a few had paid their taxes up to today, the rush to come a few days before the first of the year, when, after that time, a penalty is added.

City Collector Barrock hasn't yet received his books from the city, which will probably be ready for him tomorrow. The city was delayed a few days, having to wait several days after ordering a tax book. Mr. Barrock's office will be in the Cook & Vogt produce house, on the east side of the square.

WEDDING NEAR DEC. 25

WHITE HOUSE STOPS RUMORS BY DEFINITE STATEMENT.

No Invitations Will Be Issued and Only Close Friends Will Attend at Bride's Home.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The White House unexpectedly issued the announcement that in order to quiet speculation the president and Mrs. Galt authorized the statement that their marriage would take place some time near the close of December, at Mrs. Galt's residence. It will be very simple and no announcements will be issued. It is expected that the only guests will be members of the families. Tumulty refused to make any comment. It had been expected that the announcement would be made only a few days before the wedding.

OTHER SOCIETIES ELECTED

B. Y. P. U. and Epworth League of First Methodist Favor Federation of Young People's Societies.

The two other young people's societies voted last night to enter the federation of societies and elected representatives. The Epworth League of the First Methodist church elected Miss Edna O'Neal to serve with their president, Virgil Hartness. The B. Y. P. U. elected Miss Julia Denny to be on their committee with Lee Meek, president of that society.

The full committee will meet Thursday night in the basement of the library at 7:30 to complete the reorganization of the federation. The other members of the committee are: Christian Endeavor, Miss Bertha Anderson, Mrs. E. B. Burnett and Miss Florence Shullenberger; Presbyterian, Philip Colbert and the Rev. William Moll Case; Buchanan Street Methodist, I. B. Williams and Vernon Nash.

The constitution of the federation of societies which was in effect two years ago will probably be adopted again largely as it is.

MRS. M. A. MARTIN INJURED.

Slipped and Fell Saturday Afternoon and Broke Wrist Bones.

Mrs. M. A. Martin was severely injured Saturday afternoon when she slipped and fell and broke her wrist. The accident happened about 5 o'clock while Mrs. Martin was walking along Main street. Just as she stepped off the curb to cross the street she fell and her wrist was broken when she attempted to protect herself. Both bones were broken and the accident was a very painful one.

REBEL GETS VERY ANGRY WHEN HEARING OF OPPOSITION.

GENERAL FUNSTON
GOES TO DOUGLAS

Battle on Between Carranzistas and Revolutionists Just Across Border—Will Protect Americans.

BULLETIN.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 1.—Six thousand soldiers took positions on the United States side of the border to protect the United States against Villa, who began an assault on Agua Prieta this afternoon.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 1.—Border conditions at Douglas, Ariz., have become so critical that Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston, commanding general of the southern department, left last night for the Arizona town in order that he may personally supervise the movements of the American army along the border in that vicinity. He will arrive in Douglas Tuesday morning.

"If necessary, I will fight the United States army assembled along the border," Villa asserted after hearing this afternoon for the first time that the American government had given permission for Carranza to transport troops from Laredo and Eagle Pass, Texas, to re-enforce the garrison at Agua Prieta.

Villa began moving his troops into position tonight for an attack on Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here, regardless, he personally declared, of any consequences or effects from the United States.

Villa asked again if it were true that the United States government had permitted General Carranza to transport re-enforcements over American territory, then, continuing, he said:

"This is the way the United States repays me for the treatment and protection I have given foreigners in Mexico. Hereafter I don't give a damn what happens to foreigners in Mexico—or in my territory.

Villa Has 10,000 Soldiers.

Villa, according to reliable estimates, has ten thousand soldiers. He claims to have eighteen thousand. That it will be ended quickly as possible is the general opinion here, based on the condition of his men, thousands of whom were thirsty tonight, in positions far from water and with all scant supplies of food, according to Villa's own testimony and reports of three Mexican ranchers who arrived across the border tonight, stripped of everything they possessed.

"I am through, with the United States. I can fight my battles. Let them fight theirs.

"I can whip Carranza and his entire army, but it is asking a great deal to whip the United States; but I suppose I can do that, too."

A suit filed today in Circuit Clerk Westfall's office was Albert F. Mutti et al. vs. Marion Neal, on a note. S. E. Browne of Hopkins is the attorney for the plaintiffs.

Announcement

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

October was the best so far. Here's hoping for November.

As one small boy remarked yesterday, we would like to have a pumpkin pie made of the nice pumpkins that were wasted in "Jack o'lanterns" Saturday night.

The farmers' institute must have benefited some one a little judging from the bushels of corn used in window decorations.

The only objection so far urged against Judge Ellison for governor is that he is too good a man for the place, and this came from Republican sources that fear his strength.

Notwithstanding the wonderful showing made by the German army, the allies' supremacy of the seas is having its effect slowly but surely. There is no question but shortage of food in Germany is creating a desperate situation, and unless they can get an early outlet, will force an end to the war. Men can carry on business and fight under many difficulties, but an empty stomach is not one of them. Germany's wonderful interior resources have been well managed, but with practically all her able bodied men under arms and engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war, the country must have some supplies from the outside. With the recent submarine activity of the British cutting off intercourse between Germany and Norway, Sweden and Denmark and the blockading of the Balkan coasts on the south, the situation is one of complete isolation for Germany.

SMALL TOWNS MUST WAKE UP.

J. R. Moorhead, secretary of the Southwest Lumbermen's association, in a recent discussion before a banker-farmer conference at Chicago, on the general subject of bringing the farms and the small towns closer together, made the following pertinent observations:

"There are at least twice as many people living in our small cities as in our fifty large cities. Yet a prevalent opinion is current that all the people to be fed by the producers on the farms are congregated in the great centers."

"By eliminating the middleman, the home market is the most profitable to the producer if conducted upon the proper scale. A survey of nine states has been made which shows that more than six thousand towns and small cities lost population in the last decade. Strange to say, this decline is most marked in the thickest populated parts of the state."

"To the people living in these towns it means a loss of business, depreciation of farm land values, a shrinkage in bank deposits, the drifting away of the young people in the towns and the avoidances of such places by the youth of the country. Its culmination will be segregation of business in the great centers and the downfall of the small business man and banker."

"The remedy of this evil lies first in co-operation between the business and then a reaching out until the gulf which exists between the town people and the farmers has been bridged. This is a great quartet of interest in this country which, if brought together to a common working standard, would be able of performing wonders in this direction. I refer to the bankers, business men, the farm press and the country papers."

"The movement inaugurated by the bankers for the upbuilding and increasing the efficiency of the farm, is the great movement of the day. Community building—the blotting out of the corporate limits and extending the influence of the commercial club and like business men in the towns today. It has been learned by experience that the farming communities about us are in hearty sympathy. Many towns are now doing everything possible to extend their influence and to promote in every way the feeling of friendship and the co-operation of all classes."

AND so it is with every Great Achievement, whether it be ancient or modern, had the power of publicity been eliminated it probably would never have been.

Every merchant knows that there are many things which go to produce a successful business. The right goods at the right time, new goods, up-to-date goods, quick deliveries and pleasant salespeople are a few of the elements that produce sales.

But the biggest element back of the modern business is the publicity, the advertising of that business. More than 75 per cent of the business failures of today are the non-advertisers. This statement is backed up by plain cold figures. It surely has a vital meaning to men who want their business to grow and prosper.

The buyers of today are keen eyed and progressive. They do their buying the modern way, through reading the advertisements.

Publicity brings new customers and retains old ones. It is the big factor in producing achievement in modern business.

And so it is with every achievement, whether it be ancient or modern. Had the power of publicity been eliminated it probably would never have been.

3 MASSES FOR PEACE DAILY

Pope Grants Special Prayer Rights for
for Peace.

For the first time in the history of the Catholic church the privilege has been granted the priests by the pope to hold three masses in a single day, with the exception of Christmas day, as means whereby from every part of the world there will go forth from the Catholic altar a fervent supplication that peace again reign among the warring nations.

Announcement of the apostolic constitution has been made by Bishop Thomas F. Lillis of Kansas City. He has issued circular letters to all priests in the Kansas City diocese calling their attention to the favor extended by Pope Benedict XV. Simultaneously with the issuance by Bishop Lillis of the official notification was his formal appeal extended to the churches of his diocese for financial assistance for the starving mothers and children in the revolution ridden republic of Mexico. The appeal for the Catholics in Mexico, issued as an official communication by Bishop Lillis is addressed "to the faithful of the diocese of Kansas City, Mo."

Protect Your Eyes From The Movies.

The progress made in the character of subjects presented in the movies today, makes it desirable for all enquiring people to at least attend occasionally. Annoying after effects on the eyes of many prevent them from enjoying the social diversion and often the educational advantages thus derived. The great majority of those who suffer from eye strain after watching moving pictures can find much, if not complete relief, in perfectly fitted glasses. The pictures may not be quite so sharp, but this is more than compensated for by the increased comfort. For those with very sensitive eyes, a colored glass, either amber, yellowish green or amethyst, may be necessary to give complete relief. There have been put on the market recently several varieties of colored glasses, each of which has some advantages, so that some suitable color can usually be secured. A subdued light in the theater is much less irritating than when the only light visible comes from the screen. It is also advisable to avoid sitting in a place where it is necessary to look upward, as the additional strain becomes very tiresome, and frequently leaves a headache.

Robinson-Gray.

A romance in which a wide circle of friends in this city have taken a keen interest culminated Saturday night in the marriage of Miss Mildred Robinson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Paul Robinson, to Mr. Edward Wright Gray, which took place at 7:30 o'clock at the Robinson home, on West Third street. The Rev. Robert Lyle Finch, pastor of the First Christian church, read the marriage lines, using the ring service.

While the vows were taken the bride and groom stood upon a green velvet rug in the living room, under a bower of southern smilax, from the center of which hung a large bell made of white bride's roses, with an electric light suspended from the center. Tall bay trees at each side and smilax and ferns for a background formed an improvised bower. Tall vases and baskets filled with white chrysanthemums were placed everywhere available in the living room, parlor and reception room, and ropes of southern smilax twined the door drills and stair.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Kathleen Hurst sang two songs, "Yesterday and Today," by Spross, and "At Dawning," by Cadman. Mrs. Ralph Eversole accompanied Miss Hurst and at the close of the songs she played for a procession of the wedding march from "Lohengrin." During the ceremony Mrs. Eversole played the variations of "Annie Laurie," and afterwards the march from Mendelssohn.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore an exquisite imported Dresden gown of silver metal lace made over white satin. The bodice and short puffed sleeves were entirely of soft silver thread lace, and the double flounces of the same lace which fell over the skirt were embroidered in a rose design. Around the bottom of the skirt was a tiny border of lace over which fell loops of pearls secured with small bunches of tiny white buds. The court train was fastened with rhinestone cabochons and was secured at the waist in Greek fashion with a heavy white silk cord. Her full length tulle veil hung from a Juliet cap of real lace threaded over with pearls and rhinestones. With it she wore shoes of white kid with iridescent beading, and carried an arm shower of bride roses, tulip and valley lilies. The bouquet was given the bride by the Maryville chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she is a member. Miss Carrie Margaret Baker, who was maid of honor, wore a pale blue chiffon taffeta with trimmings of gold lace. Miss Marjorie Wiffley, Miss Ruth Reuillard and Miss Virginia Robinson were bridesmaids. Miss Wiffley's gown was an embroidered lavender taffeta. Miss Reuillard's pink taffeta with frillings of pink maline, and Miss Robinson's of peach blow chiffon taffeta. They all carried hand bouquets of Taft roses. Charles Robinson Bell, the small nephew of the bride, carried the ring in a white rose. Mr. Magnus Tate attended Mr. Gray as best man. After the congratulations a supper was served. The dining table held a large cluster of pink Killarney roses for a centerpiece. On the buffet and sideboards were baskets of pink roses and white chrysanthemums. The laces were in the form of pink slippers and pink hearts with white cupid's on the top, and the cakes and bon bons were pink and heart shaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller. In the dining room Mrs. George B. Baker, Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend, Miss Bertha Beal and Miss May Orear served, assisted by Mrs. Oliver Kurby Bovard, Miss Eleanor Smith, Miss Geneva Wiffley, Miss Vera Tilson, Miss Ora Barmann and Miss Martha Koch. The other assisting friends were Mrs. John Richey, Mrs. Ed W. Keck, Mrs. L. E. Forsyth, Mrs. E. F. Wolfert, Mrs. Clive Graves, Miss Jennie Garrett, Miss Dale Hoffman and Miss Blanche Shipp.

Many exquisite gowns were worn by the women present on this occasion. Mrs. F. P. Robinson wore a beautiful gown of pale blue messaline with gold lace trimmings and carried Killarney roses. Mrs. James B. Robinson was dressed in a handsome gown of black panne velvet with trimmings of iridescent beads. Mrs. Bell wore a salmon pink crepe de chine with trimmings of gold lace, and Mrs. Arthur Miller a gown of pale pink crepe. Miss Hurst wore a frock of watermelon pink satin striped marquisette, trimmed in marten fur. About eighty guests attended the wedding, among the out-of-town ones being Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright and Miss Golda Wright of Blocton, Ia., Mrs. J. B. Swearingen of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Gray of Parnell, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Wright of Bedison, Miss Kathleen Hurst and Mr. Dillard J. Thomas of Tarkio.

Mr. Gray and his bride left Saturday night on the Wabash for St. Louis, where they will spend a week visiting. They will be at home after November 20, in the W. C. Smith residence, on West Third street. The bride's going away gown was a coat suit of midnight blue chiffon broadcloth trimmed in marten fur and with it was worn a small black hat trimmed in black French tips.

SAHARA IS MOST VALUABLE

Date Trees Make It Worth So Much,
But United States Don't Appreciate Forests.

The most valuable land in the world is in the Sahara Desert. It is made valuable by the date trees that cover every spot where enough water can be had to make them grow. This great land value comes because man has there utilized the productive power of the tree, nature's greatest engine of production. It is really remarkable that we in the United States have used trees so little to do our work for us.

An orchard of black walnuts, or shagbark hickories, or native hazels, or Ohio valley pecans, with trees as good as the best wild ones now growing would be very, very valuable. Why don't we have them? Merely because we haven't noticed and haven't thought it is high time we caught up with the people of the desert.

We happen to have a million good Baldwin apple trees and another million good navel orange trees, because somebody took pains to tell about the original good wild tree that started the million. By budding and grafting, that one Baldwin apple tree has become the parent of many millions. We now know how to propagate all the nut trees, and can turn one good shagbark or black walnut or pecan or hazel into millions. But where are the suitable parent trees from which to graft and bud?

To help bring promising nut trees to light, and thus start a new industry the Northern Nut Growers' Association is offering cash prizes of from $10 to $50 for the best tree of black walnuts, butternuts, shagbark hickories, hazel nuts and northern pecans. Send a dozen nuts from the best nut tree of any kind that you know of to Dr. W. C. Deming, secretary of the Northern Nut Growers' Association, Georgetown, Connecticut, and ask for particulars of the prizes and rules of the contest.

We hope some of our readers will get these prizes, for there are some very fine nuts produced in the territory covered by this paper.

DOCTOR'S DISMISSAL SENSATION.

Cornell University Medical Man Makes "Cancer Cures" Public.

New York, Nov. 1.—The dismissal of Dr. Silas P. Beebe from the faculty of Cornell university medical college (this department is in New York City) because of his methods in making public his advocacy of autolysin, a new cancer remedy now being tried in many parts of the country, is a burning topic in medical circles.

Physicians who do not advocate the use of autolysin are still disposed to defend Dr. Beebe's publicity course. Many declare there should be a "freedom of the medical profession," just as there is a "freedom of the press."

Dr. Beebe is a man of high standing in his profession. He had been professor of experimental therapeutics in Cornell since 1909. He has the degrees of M. S. and Ph. D. from Yale, and M. D. from Cornell.

He has been known as an expert to serum treatments for various diseases. He developed serums for goitre and Graves' disease.

UNDERGROUND JOB ALL RIGHT.

Yale's Third Baseman Turned Down $5,000 Job With Giants.

This is the latest story they tell on Jawn McGraw, concerning his unsuccessful efforts to secure John Reilly, star third baseman for Yale, as third sacker for the Giants.

"I'll give you a job at $5,000 a year to play for my team," said Jawn to John.

"Kind sir," said John to Jawn, "I cannot accept because I am going to take a job in the New York subway at 20 cents an hour."

"But, my boy," said Jawn to John, "if you work 10 hours a day every day in the year you'll get only about $730 from the subway job. I offer you $5,000 to work two hours a day for six months."

"But I want to work underground," objected Reilly.

"I'm offering you a cellar job—I'm asking you to play with the Giants, ain't I?" Jawn is quoted as answering.

You are wanted as one of 200 at the Buchanan Street Methodist Sunday School next Sunday.

DON ADOLPHO

By JANE OSBORN.

Nathaniel Ewing was the junior partner in the furniture company of McGuire & Ewing, and, as such things usually go, everyone expected that he would some day marry Katie, Barry McGuire's pretty daughter. It was as plain as day that Nat was head over heels in love with Katie. The florist and the confectioner could have told you that he sent roses and bouquets to Katie almost every week, and no girl in her right mind, people said, could have refused Nat. So the matter seemed as good as settled. But it wasn't.

"Nat," Katie said to him one Saturday afternoon as they were walking home from the country club, where they had had their round of tennis. "Nat, I think you had better not send me the flowers and the candy any more—people are beginning to talk."

"Well, what if they are?" Nat was perfectly cheerful. It had never really occurred to him that there could be any serious obstacle in the way of winning Katie's hand.

"Well," Katie fumbled with the strings of her racquet—"If I should ever marry—if I were to be married soon, for instance, people might say that I should not have let you spend so much money for me."

"Any one in mind?" asked Nat. "What do you know about it?" exclaimed Katie. "Did father tell you? Did you read the letters?"

Nat suddenly recalled the fact that he had noticed a rather copious correspondence bearing Spanish stamps and postmarks that had been coming into the office for the past six weeks. He had thought nothing about it, but now his curiosity and jealousy were aroused.

"Well, then," said Katie, somewhat relieved, "I might as well tell you all about it, if father hasn't. You see, father had a cousin, Dolorita, a very beautiful girl, they say, and before father left Ireland for the United States this cousin ran away to Paris, where she taught as a governess in some nobleman's family, and there it was that she met the Spanish gentleman who married her—my Adolpho's father."

"Your Adolpho?" exclaimed Nat. They had now reached the McGuire house and were sitting on the steps of the shady veranda.

"That is what I call him. I have just had one letter from him, with his picture. All the rest of the correspondence has been between his lawyer and my father. And we expect he'll be here within a month, just as soon as father sends the check. He hasn't come into his money yet, and he wants father to advance enough for him to come over to America with. Isn't it thrilling? And Adolpho is so good looking—so foreign and distinguished."

"I wish you joy," was Nat's sullen comment, as he sauntered down the street toward his boarding house, leaving Katie to her castles in Spain.

It was three weeks later, and, according to schedule, Adolpho was on the ocean and would soon be at the house of McGuire. Harry McGuire had sent the $200 to pay expenses, in gold, according to direction, the day of Katie's talk with Nat.

Katie had been living in a high state of excitement, and Nat, for some reason, had been going about his work with an air of mild content.

"Your Adolpho will soon be here," he said to her one night, after an evening business talk with her father. "That Dago cousin of yours is certainly lucky."

"He isn't a Dago," protested Katie. "Spaniards aren't Dagos at all. Anyway, I am not so sure I am going to like him right away. I wish you wouldn't tease me so, Nat."

Mr. McGuire laughed. "Perhaps Nat is a little jealous," he joked. "Perhaps he wishes the Spanish cousin in Halifax. But we shall see, we shall see."

Nat had been opening a newspaper clipping that he had carefully folded in his pocket. It was from one of the New York papers, and he spread it out before his partner.

"Maybe this will interest you," he said, pointing to the headlines: "Skillful Spanish Intrigue Exposed. Gang of Crooks Work Bunco on Easy Marks All Over the Country. May Be Scores of Victims."

Mr. McGuire and Katie read through the article quickly.

"Oh, well," said Katie, tossing her pretty head after a minute's reflection, "I don't know as I would have cared to marry a Spaniard, anyhow."

And Nat, responding to the cue, took one of Katie's hands appreciatively in his.

But Mr. McGuire sat with his head buried in his hands.

"I don't care so much about the Spanish cousin," he said. "It isn't that, but what a fool I've been. What of my $200—now when business is dull, too?"

"Oh, that's where I have a little confession to make," said Nat, now taking both of Katie's hands. "Maybe it was because I was jealous and maybe it was because I suspected something crooked in this deal. But when you asked me to have the gold sent from the bank I took the gold instead and put into the office safe. I thought it would do you more good there than in the pocket of some unknown Spanish cousin."

MANY BRIDGE DELEGATIONS

County Court Unable to Take Up Proposition of $100,000 Bond Issue—Jackson Men Remonstrate.

The November session of the county court met today and most of the time was occupied with hearing delegations wanting new bridges.

A petition from Jackson township was presented to the court requesting that a road be changed northwest of Ravenwood. The proposed road is for a half mile and is near the Platte river. The petition will be placed on file, and if no remonstrance at the next term of court, the change will probably be ordered.

The court did not get to the bond issue petition for $100,000 for bridges. It will come up later in the week unless the petition is withdrawn by the signers.

MISS DELUCE'S LECTURE.

Normal Teacher Tells of "Service of Art to Home" in Women's Conference.

In the closing lecture of the second women's conference of the Farm and Home Institute Saturday afternoon, Miss Olive DeLuce of the fine arts department of the Normal school spoke on the "Service of Art to the Home."

She said that unity in design and color should exist throughout the whole house, and that three divisions are very important, ceiling, floor and walls. These are the first things one notices and should be most considered.

As a general thing, the speaker advocated that the floor should be dark, the ceiling light and the walls medium. The hearers were warned against too much elaborateness in decorations and ornaments in the home.

Hain't Hit Fierce.

Editing a newspaper is a pleasing business—if you can stand it. If subscribers want to bawl out anybody—the editor's the goat.

If the town is lagging behind and people won't get out and make things hum—it's because the town paper is on the bum.

If business is bad—it's because the editor wants too much money for his advertising space.

If business is good—advertising hasn't anything to do with it, but conditions are right.

If we print what pleases people—that is our duty and we deserve no credit.

If we print what is displeasing—we are a grouch and a crepe-hanger, and don't deserve the patronage of the public.

If we print the news as it is actually—the people call us over the phone and tell us to stop their paper.

If we garble it—they tell us we are subsidized by the corporate interests. Editing a newspaper is a pleasin business—it is not! Yes?
